DESCRIPTION

Kiev is the capital and the largest city of Ukraine, hero city. It is situated on the bank of the river Dnepr. It is the centre of Kiev agglomeration. Kiev is a separate administrative and territorial unit of Ukraine, cultural and governmental centre of the country. Kiev is also an administrative centre of Kiev region although it's not included in its contents having special legal status. It is situated in the north of the central part of Ukraine. Kiev is the eighth biggest city in terms of population after such cities as Moscow, London, Paris, St.Petersburg, Stambul, Berlin and Madrid.

Kiev in V and VI centuries was an ancient fortress in the western borders of Khazarian empire which was seized by Slavic tribes under leadership of Kiy that lived nearby. After occupation by Prophetic Oleg and transferring of capital of ruses from Novgorod the city became the capital of a new government formation – Kiev Rus and also Kiev principality. From 7 November 1917 till 29 April 1918 and from 14 December 1918 till 5 February 1919 (until the end of republic existence) – the capital of Ukrainian National Republic, from 29 April till 14 December 1918 – the capital of Ukrainian commonweal, from 24 June 1934 until 24 August 1991 – the capital of USSR, from 1991 – the capital of Ukraine.

Kiev is the leading, social and economic, transport and scientific centre of the country. All common governmental bodies of power and bodies of local self-government, embassies of foreign countries, headquarters of the majority of commercial organizations and joint ventures and representatives of foreign companies working in Ukraine are situated in Ukraine.

Since 1960 underground railway functions in Kiev.
