Bunkering In Indonesia

Indonesia has a coastline of 54,716 km (29,500 nautical miles), amongst the longest in the world. The Indonesian archipelago consists of over 17,000 islands that are rich in natural resources such as petroleum, gas, coal, tin, gold, and silver.

Undoubtedly, shipping is Indonesia's main vehicle for international trade. All types of International vessels call at Indonesia's ports, from bulk carriers to offshore vessels to cattle ships.

We provide you fuel for your ships to safely operate in Indonesia and depart for their next port of call. We understand the different requirements and operations of each type of vessel. We are familiar with the different conditions and restrictions of each port in Indonesia. With these knowledge, we are your best option for meeting your needs.
